THE PRIVATE CLIENT RESERVE OF U.S. BANK
ADDS RAYMOND C. RADIGAN TO NEW YORK OFFICE
New Managing Director of Trust Will Oversee Trusts and Estates Business in the Atlantic Region

NEW YORK (March 30, 2012) – The Private Client Reserve of U.S. Bank announced today that Raymond C. Radigan has been appointed Atlantic Region Managing Director of Trust for The Private Client Reserve, where he will be responsible for managing trust activity in the New York and Florida markets. Radigan comes to U.S. Bank from U.S. Trust, Bank of America Private Wealth Management, where he oversaw the administration of trust accounts in New York and was a principal member of that bank’s Family Office.

“Ray is a highly respected member of the trust and estate-administration community and brings a wealth of experience to his new role here at The Private Client Reserve of U.S. Bank,” said Heidi Steiger, East Region President for The Private Client Reserve of U.S. Bank. “We are delighted to have him join our team and look forward to his contributions as we continue to expand our presence in New York and the Atlantic region.”

Radigan is a past member of the board of directors of the New York Bankers Association and past chairman of both its Trust and Investment Division and its Trust and Estate Administrative Committees. He is an attorney and began his career concentrating on estate planning and trust and estate administration at the law firm Shea & Gould.

In addition to his planning work, Radigan is a frequent speaker hosted by a range of organizations including the ABA, the New York State Bar Association, the New York State Bankers Association, the Practising Law Institute, and the New York State CPA Society.

Radigan received a bachelor of science degree from Boston College and earned a Juris Doctor from St. John’s University School of Law. He will be based in the New York office of U.S. Bank’s Private Client Reserve.
